3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org Dot 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting known through one every Sunday afternoon virtually every and I'm today, which I wasn't expecting good to be with you. Thanks for your company. Thanks to the crew from out of the blue diving deep for the Marine use as they do every Sunday. Well done to Sue today for today's program and 3 CR broadcasts from the lands of the colon Nations at the overlap of the Wurundjeri and Bunnerong peoples and we pay respects to elders, past present and emerging, hello to any Aboriginal Torres Strait Islander and First Nations people tuning in and always was always will be Aboriginal land.

Today. Just chilling back a bit. There's plenty of news upon which to catch up all sorts of things teed off. There were a couple of some announcements that snuck into the federal budget, which I haven't had a chance to talk about. Of course, the election is underway. Looking at that, of course, from an observational point of view, not someone in to do any editorials, which, of course, I cannot now that we're in an election period mode. That's not what we're here to do and I'll eat. But other things, there is a fair bit of news going around, of course, and also some things that probably will be Disturb a little disturbing. So I'm going to excite a Kant General content note for transphobia. So if you do need to contact Q life including switchboard in Victoria and Tasmania, you can do that on 1 800 1845 27. Or you can contact rainbow door one, eight hundred seven to nine three six seven but we can't really avoid some of these things. At this time, you can look for posts on various ways on to comment. Lots of ways to communicate out of the pan 855 at gmail.com SMS six, one, four, five, six, seven, five, 1215, Twitter, Mastodon and blue sky for the moment, Instagram about to move itself into gear and that's all it. Sell gold said so and Facebook out of the pan 3. CR 855 am Melbourne and my page Sally Goldner am, which is where we are as it said, 855 am, that's where it was.

And he's well, I'm not gonna say I always was always use, always will be that's probably not quite respectful but but certainly It is. Well I want to start off with I think a much-needed positive which we need at the moment. That's not to deny the negatives or do toxic positivity or anything and that sort of thing. But where are we? Now if today is the 13th of April, then 14 2013.

Thirteen days ago, of course, was trans day of visibility and what a wonderful broadcast. First of all, from 3 CR, six hours of trans day of audibility broadcasting, which is now on our website. And I think one of the things that was just, you know, it might sound very small but it's sometimes the small things are the big things Eleanor. Roosevelt is, you know, sort of famous for saying, the gist of which is where to Human Rights begin and they begin in our day-to-day lives, is the gist of it.

And she used the language of that begins in the factories, the workplaces, the Farms, the homes. And I think there was just something about seeing people post on teed off this year in these well challenging times for us here in so-called Australia. But obviously in other places around the world, particularly the USA at the moment, which I will, as I said, talk about throughout the show, it's just to get that sense of being supported, I think was really important and yours. Truly posted around the Various platforms that right now more than ever chains, people just need that support on a day-to-day basis more than ever. And I think that, you know, just check the IDS, the, the checking in type of stuff, just being there for people and we'll sort of have to, to quote, Willie Nelson live one day at a time, and Dream On Dream at a time or something, but it can be done and it difficult as it may be.

B times. So just I wanted to sort of talk about that, I'm right off the bat on the show is that know, it's not easy. And I'm not going to sit here and say that I'm sailing through these troubled times. Regardless of what experiences I've been through before. And what skills, I have, some of the things that I am hearing, send the proverbial Shivers up the spine, and make the heart, skip a beat. And it is hard to stay calm, because some of them are horrific there.

I wanted to talk about as well. In the next segment I'm going to come back to a query, a query from a listener last week and we've had a comment in from one of our listeners already. Someone emailed me yesterday about an issue and also roving reporter. Hello roving has popped a message in which I'll get to as well, but it just seems that I don't know this little Sparks of Hope everywhere, going Beyond transfer a minute, the attempts to water debt over in a hetero and attempts to a lot in my words. Water down the effects of the Treaty of waitangi were overwhelmingly voted down by the New Zealand Parliament. Now, it's things like that where, you know, just some places are saying no and look, the last thing I claim to be is a sociologist or election predictor or anything like that.

But maybe there is just people are going. Hang on, has some of the things that we've seen in America, many people going. Hey, know where it's all going a bit too far. We need to just maintain some at least, some stability and caution, and that will include trans issues, which I'll touch on in the next segment. But, you know, I just urge people to hang in there. But I'd also say, you know, look if you can do some I'll use the broad term advocacy and be involved. Fine but you've

To do self-care but sometimes being your natural self is something you can do that. Just puts shine into. Everyone's lives every day and finding your own particular skills. And I think that's really important about which may sound again, may sound corny, but it does tie in with the Eleanor Roosevelt quote about just kindness and giving and those sorts of things. And it's hard to do when we see people with immense power, not doing it. And if anything doing the Opposite of what they need to be doing and not taking responsibility. But, you know, that's, I suppose part of the challenge of Life of being proactive and resisting those outside forces that's where we need to go. So all I can say to people is hang in there. We can get through these times. Take it slow, don't try not to get overwhelmed. As I say not easy, which I'm going to come back to throughout the show on a few things including the various.

Messages I've had, but we can sort of get around things and get through things hanging together and each trying to do what little bits. We can to just keep it under control, reach out for help if we need to that sort of thing, it can come back. I think, to those Basics, to some extent known, it's not going to possibly change a government overseas, but, you know, look if we keep a strong base, then we can rebuild.

Old from that. All right, in the meantime, let's have some more music. We opened up today with Russell, Morris and appropriately enough and deliberately planned. I picked, stay with you from a thousand suns back in around 1990 from that album. The Great album by One of Australia's great artists. And here's a great track of a different kind, from another great for. I think another great artist, why not Dave steal from the last radio and get the feeling three CR855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org Dot 3 CR on demand out of the pan with with Sally.

The media in this country we as indigenous people now have since it out ride of telling the truth and the truth is what this country's most fearful of in particular indigenous troops until history is told by the vanquished lens which is our people telling our story our way and have the right to be able to incorporate that into a system of learning. While people are always going to be denied that Truth by deceit. Her Lies. When you look at the type of psychological warfare, spiritual warfare that Aboriginal people accordion. It's not just in the sense of military when they talk about weapons of mass destruction, but you're right. It's in terms of the media and the industry of media is our Warfare against our people. And so is religion. I believe in the western sense, then they're all weapons of mass destruction against our, our people, we need to keep radical voices on.

It's coming to some listener messages, thoughts comments and of course as we love on this station and on this program in particular and few others, like clearing the air at 3:00 and 4:00 this afternoon in your face, 4 p.m. Friday and a couple more.

Which online throughout the show. We love queries and questions and we love our awesome 3 CR listeners. And I had, first of all, come to roving reporters messages talking about the horrible homophobic poster towards out game p. Julian Hill in the Casey area, which roving, says Patricia coverlets talked about on inside its this morning. And it's as a roving a said, it's great to see all leaders condemn, this action,

Action and severe consequences world's up from police for the perpetrators of a hate crime. You attacking a politician. There's also been some similar note. There's been ongoing action in terms of. I think the costs of the situation up in New South Wales between Alex Greenwich and a certain One Nation MP in the New South Wales Parliament, whose name is not worth repeating and it's pretty much coming down in Alex's favor. Although I think there is going to be an appeal from the

I mean, it's time we won't mention about it. Yeah, it looks certainly is disturbing II. Don't remember now, this sort of viciousness against gay people and, and impedes and I mean, we haven't had a huge number of out. I'll say, I think I can say lgbtiq, A+ politicians. One person with variation of sex characteristics to our knowledge, Tony breath for over in the city of Hobson's Bay at the local level, but she is certainly cops.

Stuff over time as well and all the best to Tony and family will say so yeah, not good, but as you say roving it is good. That all political leaders have condemned this, you know, it's just, you know, I suppose you know politics is unfortunately a much. I wish game and tough and all that sort of thing. But and you might have to, you know, I think it is reasonable. Given that you know what? You know how many politicians have we got now 226, we're back.

Noun 1, you know, those 226 people governing over 26 million. We have a right to ask about their leadership qualities. Their people skills, what they bring, however, we don't have a right to attack anyone really on the basis of an attribute. Whether it's sexual /, romantic, orientation, skin color, anything else and good? As you say, good to see that, it's been condemned and let's hopefully move on. Rovings also come in with

Some sort of pretty, with another couple of comments, positive news from the city of Casey Community Awards, representing the local community to rent two month who received it last night. We coughs in some Community Awards going around is also possibly some nominations coming up soon for Vic. Pride Awards. I think that's going to be announced soon and these are coming back to the theme of the first segment. This is good stuff. You know we do need to celebrate our wins big or small personal.

Community or whatever. So let's enjoy them. And here we are at 22 minutes and 20 seconds in and it's going to be a wrestling references. Chris Jericho would have said in WWE, drink it in. So yes, we do need to do that Casey Council has had published bad publicity in the past but this new groups about changing those stigmas and being inclusive respect to the new mere despite some hostility in the community. Yeah look I've I'll say indirectly.

Being on the receiving end of that. Many years ago, I did some queer diversity, training for Casey Council employees and whilst the myself, or the organization that I was working for at the time, wasn't named, you know, there was Flack about it. And thankfully, most of the council seem to will say assertively squashed that flak very, very quickly. I remember, at the time, there was one counselor who said why state government telling local government what to do, because

The Local Government Act is an act of State Parliament. You've got to follow state law silly right-wing counselor boom. So I was Homer. Simpson would have said Dole so that's the sort of silliness we can you know, just unfortunately, it would be nice if we could not have to knock all this stuff on the head all the time, but sometimes we do rovings also watching. The Liberal Party came campaign launch and has said it's akin to watching paint dry cell or what is it to watching?

Uh, cars rust, that sort of thing. As I think they said in Smokey and the Bandit in 1976 and you know, look, I'm not, I'm not, I'm reluctant to get into direct political comment on things other than lgbtiq a plus. But, you know, look, the general signs is that it seems that the lnp campaign is faltering and that would know, first of all, you know, look, I think it's political

To start. Let's to enter you too big a thing to say. I mean the let's just say the choices are relatively clear from if if you, if lgbtqa+ particularly trans is a focus for you and I think people can work that out for themselves, but I think there's also an extra level of nuance now in the range of possible election results, whilst might be the case, that there is less chance of an LNP majority. There still could be an Olympian minority government and it's

To depend on which independent steals crossbenchers Etc. Are needed to give a majority because a couple are very more on the right. And one is at least reasonable but if it comes down to needing more teals and other crossbenchers, then whilst it would not be, you know, I think it's fair to say there would be difficulties in that K outcome for lgbtiq a plus. It's also could be moderated.

Not like a minority government with support of greens and teals. Well, that's a posits looking a strong possibility, that he's even now talk of a labor majority in the lower house, which will two, or three weeks ago, you would have thought you've got some long odds on that one. If you're a gambling type of person. Roving also says that Millennials and gen Z to the biggest voting Bloc. And now, outnumber the Boomers not not all burners are right-wing though. Some have Progressive and still sort of

That 60s hippie, sort of vibe The Sibling, the state cool, getting to the Scooby-Doo van with the flower power on it, and sort of insist, certainly online needs to be considered, which it seems that virtually all political parties are doing online and podcasts, and all sorts of things in this election, as well as the standard more traditional forms of media and debates there in. And the question is, will

Larger parties, message cut through to this new generation. Well, yeah, that's a good question. There's some conservatism I was reading about younger males in a guardian article but and yet there's also generally speaking, a lot of Millennials must a lot of Millennials, broadly apis Progressive and your last message, Tim Wilson running in Goldstein is a gay man, and it's a secret.

It's one to watch to very competitive and signs everywhere you can't escape the Billboards. Yes. And be careful which ones you take down after a bit of a kerfuffle in a couple of the teal seats on that, he doozy error. But I've hopefully all cleared up now. What it's come to the sort of a difficult one here and this is where I'll raise the content note for General transphobia.

That time. It's now, the case that in America, if you're a journalist who puts your pronouns, in your email signature, which is course, is highly recommended by means of trans educator, and most trans people for lots of reasons, which I'll come to it. Now means you won't be responded to by the White House and I want to thank Jenny, one of our awesome listeners who alerted me to this.

This last 24 hours but can't listen. Live today we'll be listening to the podcast. Hello Jenny. And yeah that's just absolutely yeah. Sort of just getting rid of the sort of pettiness and diversion tactics of the Trump Administration to keep it polite. It just ridiculous. And so the thing is, of course, there's easy ways I suppose for journalists to get around this one.

Even an IT schmuck. Like me knows that a major email program like Microsoft Outlook, for example, can you give you choices of signatures in case you perhaps we have your job, your personal Signature Club you're involved in or something like that. So just have a signature that your pronouns. If you're emailing the White House annoying, is that is? But my question is, then what if someone called Sam or Jack JC or Robbie,

You know, sort of contacts the White House. How an? And let's say the person is a woman and gets mr. Robbie Smith or whoever it is. Dear oh dear. Oh dear. It's just it really I mean that's the small stuff and of course I want to get the biggest stuff that's coming on trans. Well there is a bit of it, you know, sort of many European countries. Now giving warnings about traveling to the US. It does seem, although there hasn't been a confirmation from the Australian government on. What exactly

Happened there trying to clarify that officially with the US government. Good luck with that, I suppose that there's, you know, because, you know, warnings about traveling to America, you will have to travel on a passport that reflects your sex assigned at Birth even though under Australian law or I can get an Australian passport with an F, regardless of my surgical status, or anyone surgical status, which I'm not sure how that can work. How another country can challenge someone's laws. But if you even if you do

To do that. You could be detained or deported or turned back. So you know, it's an unfortunate thing to say and putting in particular, people have relatives in the u.s. There can be no in can't visit them or, you know, perhaps there's a need to go for a funeral or a wedding or something or standard like that. It could be very, very difficult. So just please take care and make careful decisions. If that is something you need to do so thanks for that article Journey.

Jed, obviously, bigger things going on. Well, when I say bigger things, you know, part of that whole horrific scenario, the winding back of diversity programs, the government Cuts, they're very, very disconcerting indeed. All right, self a breather here and have some more music and to start off today with a track. So start off today, have as our third track for today, after listening,

Into Dave still earlier track from another great Australian band. The dingoes and this track is from their live album live at last way back in 2010 and it's a track called something. We've all got to do try anyway. 3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org dot U 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally.

3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org dot a. You 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally first broadcasting noon through one every Sunday afternoon. Thanks for your company. And we just heard from the dingoes from the company, the Classic live album from 2010 live at last and try anyway, which is always a good thing to do to keep trying and keep going. If you can

Because it's not easy at times on many levels, but it can be done and well, I tried. Anyway, I'm going to digress a bit here from the theme of the show and go with my gut. Yours. Truly did make my in-ring professional wrestling debut on Thursday night, which was an immense amount of fun. Someone who got bullied at school. In terms of both ableism and gender stuff to do something athletic. It's wasn't the reason I

I started out to do it. I honestly just tried to lift my spirits to be perfectly honest. I was nervous, sort of something I never thought would happen. So keep trying and yes, I'm perfectly in one piece and all that sort of thing. So make sure that you keep trying anyway. And I have to say it was just possibly the biggest blast I've had in my life. Although gain didn't really set out for the to

An adrenaline rush or anything like that. So it's just been in a very personally. It's been a very interesting week. So yeah. I wanted to come back to the issue of the federal budget. And there were two things that were announced in it of great of importance to queer people same-sex couples can now

Now claim IVF costs on Medicare. And so that's going to ease, the burden on same-sex Partners. You want to have a family and is, you know, sort of an important step to a non-discriminatory Health Care System. Unfortunately not surrogacy costs but it's sort of IVF costs are a start. And yeah, at least there's, you know, it's sort of

Step forward there. Now, the other one that sort of got buried down in the various budget papers, was the fact that there's been only be special legislation, passed to allow the organization equality, Australia to Get Charitable status. And I think that that's of interest because whilst it really should be everyone who needs it, getting it. And I'm not really sure why only one

Organisation has been granted it in some sort of, you know, there's all sorts of worthy organizations declaring my interest on being as a Committee Member of three organizations to which have tax-deductible status one that doesn't. Now it's sort of really I find this whole charitable and not-for-profit regime somewhat complicated. As a someone who might one of my day job skills works as an accountant and therefore has tried

To get this status for many things over the years and definitely I'm not really sure why anyone organization has been granted it be interested to try and track down some comments on that more messages in from roving. Who says, we should never take our privileges for granted, and the article would by Jenny reminds us were lucky to live here, which Jenny actually said in her email, the gist of her email to me.

When she notified me of the pronoun policy and I'm just going to bring that up. If the computer wants to do things, yes, pretty much virtually the same words you to our telepathy using after all these years. Let's acknowledge the freedoms we have in Australia should never be taken for granted. Yeah, so we're going to have to make sure we, I'll just say to be neutral in this election, period. We have to think very carefully about how we want to vote, if that's in those things are really Consciously important to us other comments by arriving campaign. Launch, we have Leaders with very little charismatic qualities. Only charismatic qualities roving but, you know, sort of depth or substance and of policy, which is really the whole parties. And also know, it's, I know that the there seems to be some regardless of our electoral system. There's this focus on the leaders in a very presidential way, but I think it's a real problem.

Problem that we just seem to be having a very significant shortage of quality leadership in higher political and probably other positions of influence around the world roving says that they missed the Obama's, call an intelligent and have personalities. Why? Our leaders? The brown cardigan Brigade? Yep. Well, I don't know. I think that will careful roving. We could we could have brown cardigan whereas sewers for defamation I'm not sure what color the Cardigan of that bill pickles ways in the pickles Comics which I have given me some amusement through tough times over recent months on social media but you know, he could be sewing a seriously, you know, it's just there is just this absolute divide. It does seem that there is an iron. You know, the term, Rich old, white straight, men or pale stale males. It's called can be a little stereotypical and divisive, but I think there is

Divide growing between pales to mail and lots of a range of people. And that's not good because, you know, look, there are some people are people but it just seems, there is this divided growing. But the thing is, as I said earlier, with what happened in New Zealand this week and Australia's seems to be balking at the some of the trends. We're seeing from the USA, maybe we've reached the proverbial title' title Point as well.

Side buttons families, featured in the launch, gy roll out the family, when it's convenient. Good good to see that. He paid tribute to the incident in Sydney, the Westfield shopping center incident. The horrible situation that happened a year ago and the victims. Will you send me competitor? Professional level. Well, I've got to get good enough to do that roving. But yes, broken through at the Indy level. As I called interesting, the Indies short for Independence, which is professional and yes, just

So I'm going to keep going with this because that's the thing that I meant to say is I'm just a lot fitter and happier for doing this. No, it's not. Everyone's Forte that's true or even the 39. Boom. Boom. But yeah it's a lot of fun and I just think that I found a huge sense of community and connection and people who are like me not as partially yes in terms of queer demand neurodivergent and things like that but just as people which is always a nice thing to have a feeling of belonging and

Connection is something, I think every human needs with my amateur psychology kicking in hair on that point. So yeah, but coming back to the budget a couple of announcements that got missed and buried that sort of thing. So I'm going to try and dig into that issue of why one queer organization is being is having special legislation for charitable status, but why not everyone else? And from memory, I think a quality Australia was spearheading a campaign to

To sort of get everyone charitable status. So, you know, that's, I'll sorry, I just have some concerns about that and I, that I think need to be raised as part of our communities issues and whatever interest I may have. You know, it's got to be one, one sort of set of rules for everyone. So let's hope we can sort that out in due. Course, I have some more music now. I opened

Like my first live show for the year with Josh mules a fabulous local queer artist in the studio and he recorded two tracks on the show that day. One of them was one of his was his hit single, it will be okay. And here's a 3 CR exclusive and Josh Mills, it will be okay. 3 CR 855 am 3 CR Digital 3, CR dot org dot U 3 CR on demand out of the pan with Sally.

Cheating are sorry you lost some privileged you didn't really have in the first place.
